

HOW TO USE:

- These kindness notes can be used by you, your staff or your students to encourage others.
- Once the cards from page 2 are cut out, you can leave them around the school or community. You can give them to specific people, or leave them in public places for others to find.
- Each card is also included as a full size sheet if you want to place them in front of a display, around the school, or even sent in an e-mail.

DOING DISTANCE LEARNING?

- Students can print these out at home, cut them out, and leave them around the community.
- You can print them out and mail the cards to students as a way of encouraging them.

TERMS OF USE:

- Since this is a free resource, you MAY post it online for your colleagues to access that way. However, you are not permitted to claim the work as your own or sell it. This resource is in the free resource library on www.CounselorChelsey.com If other educators are interested in this resource, encourage them to sign up for the library.

TEACHING ABOUT KINDNESS THIS MONTH?

GRAB THIS CHRISTMAS KINDNESS ACTIVITY!

These fun activities will help students consider ways that they can light up someone's day!

Students will look at kind actions and decide which ones they will do.

This resource also includes a booklet that students can make of 25 ways to light up someone's day!
